

Abbaye de Maizières Hotel, a gem in the heart of Beaune

Behind the magnificent entrance boasting Cistercian stained glass windows hides a treasure: 900 years of history, 1,000 square meters of time travel and 12 guestrooms. It's a discreet, confidential, almost invisible place, and reveals all its advantages once you go through the door: its vaulted cellar, fireplaces, ancient walls, stone vault doors, spiral staircases...

It took nearly three years for Bruno Epailly and his wife, Emmanuelle, to renovate this ancient abbey, property of the Maizières monks in the 14th century. It was confiscated during the French Revolution, then divided and shared, and sold to various owners. The incredible building then fell into oblivion. Bruno Epailly is passionate about architecture, and he took on the best art craftsmen to reconstruct the abbey and turn it into a charming hotel.

The result of the renovations is just stunning: far from being a frozen, icy museum, the Abbaye de Maizières hotel offers guests a pure moment of history and romance.

Here every detail counts: breakfast is served by candlelight in the old monks' cellar, the guestrooms embrace the Beaunois roofs. The restaurant menu is inspired by the chef Cédric Burtin.... It's a decidedly unusual, exclusive and friendly place.

You will soon be able to enjoy the new spa and indoor pool at this beautiful abbey.
